

Staffordshire Record Society

Membership form

The Staffordshire Record Society originated in 1879 as the William Salt Archaeological Society. It took its name and inspiration from William Salt, a Staffordshire banker whose antiquarian collections form the core of the William Salt Library at Stafford, opened in 1872. The Society changed its name in 1936 to the Staffordshire Record Society as being more suited to its work. The purpose of the Society has always been the publication of documents, local and national, relating to the history of Staffordshire.

Annual subscription is £10.00
Members receive a copy of each new publication
